Overview of Services Offered

St. Elizabeth Healthcare provides a robust array of services tailored to meet the needs of businesses and their employees. These services are designed to promote health and wellness while ensuring that organizations can operate efficiently. The major services include occupational health, wellness programs, and employee assistance programs.

Occupational Health Services

Occupational health services are essential for ensuring a safe and healthy work environment. St. Elizabeth Healthcare offers comprehensive assessments and treatments tailored to the workplace, which include:

- Pre-employment screenings
- Drug and alcohol testing

- Workplace injury management
- Health surveillance programs
- Return-to-work assessments

These services not only help in compliance with health regulations but also aid in reducing workplace injuries and enhancing employee productivity.

Wellness Programs

Wellness programs are a cornerstone of St. Elizabeth Healthcare's business health services. These programs focus on preventive care and health promotion, which can lead to significant cost savings for businesses. Key components of these wellness programs include:

- Health risk assessments
- Fitness challenges
- Nutritional counseling
- Stress management workshops
- Chronic disease management

By fostering a culture of health, organizations can improve employee morale and retention while reducing healthcare costs.

Employee Assistance Programs (EAPs)

Employee Assistance Programs (EAPs) provide vital support to employees facing personal challenges that may affect their work performance. St. Elizabeth Healthcare's EAPs offer:

- Confidential counseling services
- Financial and legal advice
- Substance abuse resources
- Work-life balance support

EAPs are essential in promoting mental health and well-being, which ultimately leads to a more engaged and productive workforce.

The Importance of Business Health Services

Business health services play a critical role in the overall health ecosystem. They bridge the gap between healthcare providers and the business community, ensuring that employees receive the care and support they need to thrive. Integrating health services into business operations leads to numerous advantages, including improved productivity and reduced absenteeism.

Enhancing Employee Well-Being

When businesses prioritize health services, employee well-being significantly improves. This not only leads to higher job satisfaction but also fosters loyalty to the organization. Healthy employees are more productive, engaged, and likely to stay with their employer longer. Additionally, wellness initiatives can prevent chronic diseases, reducing long-term healthcare costs for both employees and employers.

Reducing Healthcare Costs

Investing in business health services can lead to substantial savings. By focusing on preventive care through wellness programs and regular health assessments, businesses can decrease the incidence of major health issues. This not only lowers insurance premiums but also minimizes the costs associated with employee turnover and absenteeism.

Benefits of Partnering with St. Elizabeth Healthcare

Partnering with St. Elizabeth Healthcare provides businesses with tailored health solutions that align with their unique needs. The advantages of collaboration include access to a wide range of services, expert guidance, and innovative health solutions that enhance organizational performance.

st elizabeth healthcare business health services: Dyad Leadership in Healthcare Kathleen Sanford, 2015-01-07 Healthcare leaders are facing major change in how healthcare is delivered as we move from fee-for-service payment models to pay for value. Physicians and hospitals are evolving from separate financial entities (with relationships varying from customers/workshops to competitors) to unified systems. Government policy maker, payers, and hordes of consultants advise hospitals to increase physician leadership in all parts of the system. However, few have proposed how this can be done when the gaps between hospitals and physicians are so wide. Physicians do not trust healthcare leaders, lack leadership and teamwork skills, and have little knowledge of how systems work. Some hospital leaders are working to overcome these gaps by setting up dyad leadership teams, consisting of a physician and an experienced manager/leader. The physician member of the team helps with the first gap; the nurse or other dyad partner is important to manage the other gaps. Until now, with the publication of Dyad Clinical Leadership, there has not been a source to help clinical dyad partners learn and understand how to work together in this emerging management model. Kathleen D. Sanford, DBA, RN, CENP, FACHE, Senior Vice President and Chief Nursing Officer at Catholic Health Initiatives (CHI), builds on CHI's success with this unique playbook for the model.
