brutal obsession series in order: Al-Jahiz: In Praise of Books James E. Montgomery, 2013-11-13 Edinburgh University Press will publish two self-contained guides to reading al-Jahiz that also shed light on his society and its writings. This first volume, 'In Praise of Books', is devoted to bibliomania and al-Jahiz's bibliophilia. Volume 2, In Censure of Books, explores Al-Jahiz's bibliophobia. Al-Jahiz was a bibliomaniac, theologian, and spokesman for the political and cultural elite, a writer who lived, counselled and wrote in Iraq during the first century of the 'Abbasid caliphate. He advised, argued and rubbed shoulders with the major power brokers and leading religious and intellectual figures of his day, and crossed swords in debate and argument with the architects of the Islamic religious, theological, philosophical and cultural canon. His many, tumultuous writings engage with these figures, their ideas, theories and policies. They give us an invaluable but much-neglected window onto the values and beliefs of this cosmopolitan elite.

brutal obsession series in order: Critical Approaches to Teaching the High School Novel Crag Hill, Victor Malo-Juvera, 2018-10-25 This edited collection will turn a critical spotlight on the set of texts that has constituted the high school canon of literature for decades. By employing a set of fresh, vibrant critical lenses—such as youth studies and disabilities studies— that are often unfamiliar to advanced students and scholars of secondary English, this book provides divergent approaches to traditional readings and pedagogical practices surrounding these familiar works. By introducing and applying these interpretive frames to the field of secondary English education, this book demonstrates that there is more to say about these texts, ways to productively problematize them, and to reconfigure how they may be read and used in the classroom.

brutal obsession series in order: Fascism without Borders Arnd Bauerkämper, Grzegorz Rossoliński-Liebe, 2017-05-01 It is one of the great ironies of the history of fascism that, despite their fascination with ultra-nationalism, its adherents understood themselves as members of a transnational political movement. While a true “Fascist International” has never been established, European fascists shared common goals and sentiments as well as similar worldviews. They also drew on each other for support and motivation, even though relations among them were not free from misunderstandings and conflicts. Through a series of fascinating case studies, this expansive collection examines fascism’s transnational dimension, from the movements inspired by the early example of Fascist Italy to the international antifascist organizations that emerged in subsequent years.

brutal obsession series in order: Mr. Arnold Francis Lynde, 2023-07-10 In Mr. Arnold, Francis Lynde presents a gripping narrative centered around a dynamic protagonist navigating the complexities of small-town life while grappling with moral dilemmas and the dynamics of community. The novel is characterized by Lynde's keen observations and rich descriptions, which effectively capture the social fabric and tensions of the early 20th century. With a blend of realism and psychological depth, Lynde navigates themes of ambition, integrity, and social responsibility, making this work a subtle critique of the era's societal expectations and limitations. Francis Lynde (1856-1930) was a prolific American author known for his insightful explorations of human character and morality, often drawing from his experiences in the rapidly changing landscape of American society. His background in journalism and a career that spanned various professions lend him a unique perspective, allowing him to craft relatable yet complex characters dealing with the challenges of their time. This context deeply influences the narrative of Mr. Arnold, showcasing Lynde's adeptness at weaving personal and broader social narratives. Mr. Arnold is highly recommended for readers seeking an engaging narrative rich in character development and social commentary. It offers a thoughtful exploration of human motivations against the backdrop of a rapidly evolving society, appealing to those who appreciate literature that probes deeper truths while remaining engaging and accessible.

brutal obsession series in order: The Middle of the Road: Historical Novel Philip Gibbs, 2019-06-03 Bertram Pollard is a former soldier who comes back home after the Great War. His home, as his country, is deeply divided by war and politics. One of his sisters is married to a German, the other fancies left-wing Irish republican wanted by the police, and his brother is a member of Black and Tans, Royal Irish Reserve. His wife on the other hand is an upper-class lady who cares very little for left wing elements of the society. Bertram is, however, painfully aware of the issues on the both sides and that causes tension and distance between him and his loved ones.

brutal obsession series in order: The Celestial Marked Series Books 1-3 Emma L. Adams, Over 200,000 words of snarky, action-packed urban fantasy. Devi Lawson has a talent for breaking the rules. It's second only to her skill at hunting down demons -- too bad the angelic guild of celestial soldiers didn't appreciate her efforts. In fact, they kicked her out. And now she's being accused of murdering one of their own. To clear her name, she must work hand in hand with the demons she used to hunt, including the enigmatic warlock Nikolas Castor. Not only is his magic entirely too close to the killer she's pursuing, but he seems to think Devi is marked by a demon, too. Before long, Devi is neck-deep in trouble. Distrusted by her former allies and in serious danger of the real reason she left the guild making it into the light, Devi must catch the killer before he unleashes a literal hell on Earth. This collection contains the first three books in the Celestial Marked series: Celestial Magic, Celestial Fire and Celestial Ashes. An epic urban fantasy bundle featuring a former demon hunter with an attitude, an enigmatic demigod, a murder mystery, and a dash of slow-burn romance. For fans of Seana Kelly, Luanne Bennet, and Heather G. Harris.

brutal obsession series in order: The Dream of the Great American Novel Lawrence Buell, 2014-02-10 "Magisterial . . . make[s] you suddenly see new things in familiar books . . . brilliant analyses of a dozen or so front-runners in the Great American Novel sweepstakes." —Michael Dirda, Virginia Quarterly Review The idea of "the great American novel" continues to thrive almost as vigorously as in its nineteenth-century heyday, defying more than 150 years of attempts to dismiss it as amateurish or obsolete. In this landmark book, the first in many years to take in the whole sweep of national fiction, Lawrence Buell reanimates this supposedly antiquated idea, demonstrating that its history is a key to the dynamics of national literature and national identity itself. The dream of the G.A.N., as Henry James nicknamed it, crystallized soon after the Civil War. In fresh, in-depth readings of selected contenders from the 1850s onward in conversation with hundreds of other novels, Buell delineates four "scripts" for G.A.N. candidates and their themes, illustrated by such titles as The Scarlet Letter, The Great Gatsby, Invisible Man, Uncle Tom's Cabin, Beloved, Moby-Dick, and Gravity's Rainbow—works dwelling on topics from self-invention to the promise and pitfalls of democracy. The canvas of the great American novel is in constant motion, reflecting revolutions in fictional fashion, the changing face of authorship, and the inseparability of high culture from popular. As Buell reveals, the elusive G.A.N. showcases the myth of the United States as a nation perpetually under construction. "Engaging and provocative . . . ultimately affirms the importance of literature to a nation's sense of itself." —Sarah Graham, Times Literary Supplement "Rich in critical insight . . . Buell wonders if the GAN isn't stirring again in surprising new developments in science fiction. An impressively ambitious literary survey." —Booklist (starred review)
