Understanding CHAMPS Classroom Management

CHAMPS is a proactive classroom management strategy designed to promote positive behavior and reduce disruptions. The acronym CHAMPS stands for Conversation, Help, Activity, Movement, Participation, and Success, which represent key behavioral expectations teachers communicate to students. This system encourages clarity and consistency by outlining what is expected for each classroom activity, helping students understand acceptable behavior and how to succeed academically and socially.

Core Principles of CHAMPS

The CHAMPS framework emphasizes six main areas that guide classroom conduct. Teachers specify whether students can converse during an activity, how they can seek help, the nature of the task they are engaged in, permitted movement within the classroom, expected levels of participation, and criteria for success. This clarity reduces confusion and empowers students to take responsibility for their actions, resulting in a more focused and cooperative learning environment.

Role of Printed Materials in CHAMPS

Printed CHAMPS materials serve as constant visual reminders of behavioral expectations. Displaying these printables in the classroom or providing individual copies to students reinforces the system's guidelines. This approach supports consistency and accountability, especially for students who benefit from visual cues and repeated exposure to rules and routines.
