Overview of 11b OSUT

The 11b MOS (Military Occupational Specialty) refers to Infantrymen in the U.S. Army. One Station Unit Training (OSUT) is a consolidated training program that combines Basic Combat Training (BCT) and Advanced Individual Training (AIT) into a single continuous course. This approach allows Infantry soldiers to train cohesively with their unit from start to finish. The 11b OSUT prepares soldiers with the physical skills, weapons handling, tactical knowledge, and battlefield readiness necessary for infantry duties. The program typically takes place at Fort Benning, Georgia, a major infantry training center.

Significance of 11b OSUT

11b OSUT is essential for shaping capable and combat-ready Infantry soldiers. The training emphasizes physical fitness, marksmanship, field tactics, and leadership skills. Soldiers who complete 11b OSUT are equipped to perform in various combat scenarios and contribute effectively to their units. The upcoming 11b OSUT dates are closely monitored by recruiters and training commands to ensure timely and efficient class scheduling.

Duration and Structure

The 11b OSUT program usually lasts approximately 22 weeks, combining about 10 weeks of Basic Combat Training and 12 weeks of Advanced Individual Training.

The seamless transition between these phases allows soldiers to develop foundational military skills before focusing on specialized infantry tasks.

Schedule and Key Upcoming 11b OSUT Dates

The upcoming 11b OSUT dates are published periodically by the U.S. Army Recruiting Command and Fort Benning's training schedule. These dates dictate when new cohorts of recruits begin their training cycle. Staying informed about these dates is crucial for logistical planning and readiness assessments.

Typical Training Cycle Dates

OSUT classes start on a weekly or bi-weekly basis, depending on enrollment demand and training capacity. The upcoming 11b OSUT dates for the next training cycles typically fall within the following timeline:

- January 8, 2024
- February 5, 2024
- March 4, 2024
- April 1, 2024
- May 6, 2024
- June 3, 2024
- July 1, 2024
- August 5, 2024
- September 2, 2024
- October 7, 2024
- November 4, 2024
- December 2, 2024

These start dates represent the reporting day when soldiers must arrive at Fort Benning for processing and initial orientation. Each class cohort will progress through the full OSUT course based on these designated dates.

How to Confirm Upcoming OSUT Dates

Recruits are advised to confirm their specific reporting dates with their recruiting officers and official Army channels. Changes can occur due to operational needs, training facility availability, or other Army scheduling adjustments. Early communication ensures recruits can prepare and plan accordingly.

Enrollment and Reporting Procedures

Enrollment for the 11b OSUT program involves meeting specific eligibility criteria and completing required pre-training steps. Once enrolled, recruits receive instructions regarding their reporting date, travel arrangements, and initial processing.

Eligibility and Prerequisites

To qualify for 11b OSUT, candidates must meet basic Army enlistment standards including age, physical fitness, medical clearance, and aptitude test scores. Additionally, recruits must pass the Army Physical Fitness Test and meet height and weight standards prior to reporting.

Reporting Day Process

On the assigned reporting day, recruits arrive at Fort Benning and undergo in-processing, which includes medical evaluations, administrative paperwork, uniform issue, and initial briefings. This day sets the foundation for the rigorous training ahead and ensures all soldiers are accounted for and equipped.

Training Phases within 11b OSUT

The 11b OSUT program is divided into distinct training phases emphasizing different skill sets necessary for an Infantryman. Each phase builds upon the previous one to create a comprehensive combat-ready soldier.

Basic Combat Training (BCT) Phase

The initial phase focuses on fundamental soldiering skills. Recruits learn Army values, physical fitness, drill and ceremony, weapons handling, and basic field tactics. This phase lasts approximately 10 weeks and establishes discipline and teamwork.

Advanced Individual Training (AIT) Phase

Following BCT, recruits transition to AIT where they receive specialized infantry training. This includes advanced marksmanship, urban operations, reconnaissance, patrolling, and leadership fundamentals. The AIT phase is roughly 12 weeks long and culminates in a final field training exercise.

Preparation Tips for Recruits

Proper preparation is key to successfully completing the 11b OSUT program. Awareness of upcoming 11b OSUT dates allows recruits to manage their personal affairs and physical conditioning effectively.

Physical Conditioning

Maintaining peak physical fitness before reporting day improves performance and reduces injury risk. Recruits should focus on cardiovascular endurance, strength training, and flexibility exercises aligned with Army fitness standards.

Administrative Readiness

Recruits must ensure all enlistment paperwork, medical clearances, and personal documentation are complete before arrival. Early coordination with recruiters helps prevent delays during processing.

Essential Items to Bring

While the Army issues most equipment, recruits may be advised to bring certain personal items. A checklist provided by recruiters usually includes:

- Valid identification and enlistment documents
- Comfortable civilian clothing
- Basic toiletries and hygiene products
- Prescription medications if applicable
- Physical fitness gear for pre-training workouts

Frequently Asked Questions

What are the upcoming 11B OSUT dates for 2024?

The upcoming 11B OSUT dates for 2024 are scheduled throughout the year at various training locations. Exact dates vary by training center; it's best to check with the specific Army training installation or official Army websites for the most accurate schedule.

Where can I find the official schedule for 11B OSUT?

The official schedule for 11B OSUT can be found on the U.S. Army Recruiting Command website or by contacting your local Army recruiter. Additionally, the Fort Benning and other training post websites often publish updated OSUT dates.

How long is the 11B OSUT program?

The 11B OSUT (Infantry One Station Unit Training) program typically lasts about 14 weeks, combining Basic Combat Training and Advanced Individual Training into one continuous course.

Are there different start dates for 11B OSUT depending on the training location?

Yes, 11B OSUT start dates can vary depending on the training location such as Fort Moore (formerly Fort Benning) or other training centers. Each location may have its own schedule based on capacity and seasonal factors.

Can I request a specific 11B OSUT start date?

Requests for specific 11B OSUT start dates can be made through your Army recruiter, but availability depends on training slot openings and operational needs. Flexibility is recommended when selecting dates.

How often do 11B OSUT classes start throughout the year?

11B OSUT classes typically start every few weeks throughout the year to accommodate continuous training cycles. The frequency may vary depending on the training location and Army requirements.

What factors could cause changes to the upcoming 11B OSUT dates?

Changes to 11B OSUT dates can occur due to operational demands, training facility availability, public health concerns, or other unforeseen circumstances. Monitoring official Army channels is advised for updates.

Is there a deadline to sign up for an upcoming 11B OSUT class?

While there is no universal deadline, it is recommended to enlist and coordinate with a recruiter several months in advance to secure a spot in the upcoming 11B OSUT classes due to limited availability.

How do holidays or weather affect the scheduling of 11B OSUT dates?

Holidays and severe weather can occasionally impact 11B OSUT scheduling by causing delays or rescheduling of start dates. The Army plans training cycles around major holidays but may adjust for unexpected weather events.

Where can I get updates or notifications about changes to 11B OSUT dates?

Updates and notifications about 11B OSUT dates are typically available through your Army recruiter, official Army social media channels, and the U.S. Army Recruiting Command website. Subscribing to official newsletters can also help stay informed.

upcoming 11b osut dates: Validating Future Force Performance Measures (army Class) Karen O. Moriarty, 2009 To meet the challenges facing the Army, the Army needs predictor measures that will enhance entry-level Soldier selection and classification. One of the purposes of the Army Research Institute for Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI's) Army Class project is to provide the Army with recommendations on which predictor measures, in particular measures of non-cognitive attributes (e.g., interests, values, and temperament), demonstrate the greatest potential to inform entry-level Soldier selection and classification decisions. The present report documents the development of criterion measures to assist in these analyses. A second purpose of the Army Class project is to develop and pilot job knowledge tests (JKTs) that can be used to aid reclassification decisions. If Soldiers are shown to possess critical knowledge, skills, and attributes (KSAs) for their new jobs, this could reduce training requirements and increase force readiness. This report documents the development of reclassification JKT test items.

The modern 75th Ranger Regiment represents the culmination of 250 years of American soldiering. As a fighting force with our nation's oldest and deepest tradition, the Regiment traces its origins to Richard Rogers's Rangers during the prerevolutionary French and Indian War, through the likes of Francis Marion and John Mosby, to the five active Ranger battalions of the Second World War, and finally, to the four battalions of the current Ranger regiment engaged in modern combat. Granted unprecedented access to the training of this highly restricted component of America's Special Operations Forces in a time of war, retired Navy captain Dick Couch tells the personal story of the young men who begin this difficult and dangerous journey to become Rangers. Many will try, but only a select few will survive to serve in the 75th Ranger Regiment. Sua Sponte follows a group of these aspiring young warriors through the crucible that is Ranger training and their preparation for direct-action missions in Afghanistan against America's enemies, anywhere, any time, and under any conditions. upcoming 11b osut dates: Validating Future Force Performance Measures (Army Class) , 2009 The Army needs the best personnel to meet the emerging demands of the 21st century. Accordingly, the Army is seeking recommendations on new experimental predictor measures that could enhance entry-level Soldier selection and classification decisions, in particular, measures of non-cognitive attributes (e.g., interests, values, temperament). The U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI) is conducting a longitudinal criterion-related validation research effort to collect data to inform these recommendations. Data on experimental predictors were collected from about 11,000 Soldiers. Training criterion data were collected for differing subsets of the predictor sample in the first of three planned criterion measurement points. Soldiers were drawn from two samples: (a) job-specific samples targeting six entry-level Military Occupational Specialties (MOS) and (b) an Army-wide sample with no MOS-specific requirements. In the analyses reported here, the value of the experimental predictor measures to enhance new Soldier selection was examined. Overall, many of the experimental predictors significantly incremented the Armed Forces Qualification Test (AFQT) in predicting Soldier performance and retention during training. In addition, the experimental predictors generally exhibited smaller subgroup mean differences (by gender, race, and ethnicity) than the AFQT.
